

The direction in which education starts a man
will determine his future life.

Plato