

The production of too
many useful things
results in too many useless people.

– Karl Marx