

A CLEVER FEAT

OUR Master is an artist,
And clever, people say;
We kitties thought him clever
Until the other day,
When we were in the studio
And Master was away.

We thought that painting pictures
Meant cleverness, it's true,
Until we tried to paint one,
And then we painted two;
Both of them much more lovely
Than any he can do.

There's one upon the canvas
All splodgy and complete;
And one upon the palette,
And that is still more sweet;
We clever kitties did
them;
We did them with
our feet!
